Do the above changes mirror changes to the USF Tampa program? YES NO

USF Tampa no longer requires their Anthropology majors to take ANT 4935 Rethinking and they completely eliminated this course from their program.

Description of Change (Attach supporting documents if necessary):
1. USF Tampa has deleted ANT 4935 Rethinking from its program requirement and no longer teaches the course on their campus. We are only able to offer this course to students every two years and students are no longer able to take it at USF Tampa (as they are other required courses), which makes it difficult for students on our campus to fulfill their requirements in our major especially if they are transfer students. Therefore, we wish to make a change to our program. Instead of completely eliminating the course, we wish to offer the following change because this course was important for our SLO and we believe student education. Students must take a 3 hour capstone course, which are courses that provide students with the opportunity for critical and ethical thinking and analysis concerning issues of human diversity such as gender, ethnicity and race. To fulfill this requirement students must take one of the following courses ANT 4935 Rethinking Anthropology, ANT 4302 Gender in Cross-Cultural Perspectives, or ANT 4212 North American Indians.

2. We wish to add ANT 4930 Archaeological Theory and Method (we have already applied and this course is in the process of receiving a number 4114) and ANT 4442 Urban Life and Culture (also already taught on campus), as alternatives to students to fulfill their methods requirement. ANT 4495 Methods in Cultural Research can only be offered every two years on this campus and many students wish to pursue archaeological rather than cultural career tracks.

3. We also request to change our major hours required from 36 to 37 hours. USF Tampa in the past added a 1 hour lab with ANT 2511 Biological Anthropology, which we also added in the past (Tampa has not yet caught this mathematical error!). With this 1 hour credit, our required core, method, and capstone courses add up to 21 hours, leaving 14 hours for electives. There are no 2 hour elective courses, so we suggest to bump up the major credits to 37 hours and leave the electives at 15 hours.

Impact on College and University Resources:
None anticipated, as these courses are already taught by USFSP faculty.

Special Topics
ANT 4930 Special Topics (3)
Depending upon the specific topic, this may count toward any of the subdivisions and/or the methods requirement.

Independent Studies and Internships
ANT 4901 Directed Reading (1-4)
ANT 4905 Individual Research (2-4)
ANT 4940 Directed Internship (2-4)
Students can work with a professor to undertake for-credit reading, individual research and/or internship. In all such cases, a contract is required prior to registration.

Anthropology majors are urged to become competent readers and speakers of a relevant modern foreign language (which may include American Sign Language). They are also urged to enhance their English reading, writing, speaking and critical thinking capabilities and develop their skills in computational, statistical and other forms of quantitative analysis at every opportunity. Students are encouraged to fulfill General Education and Exit requirements with courses relevant to their interests in anthropology whenever possible.

In pursuit of all these goals, they should meet with the department's Undergraduate Advisor at least once each semester to discuss such topics as academic progress, future course plans, summer field schools, job opportunities, graduate education and professional careers in anthropology.

Requirements for the Minor in Anthropology

The minor in Anthropology consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours with a "C" average (2.0), distributed among three areas. Students will normally progress through these areas in the order listed below, selecting courses, prerequisite, or otherwise appropriate courses desired in subsequent areas. Exceptions to this pattern must be approved by the department's undergraduate advisor. Students are urged to consult with an advisor to create the most beneficial set of courses. ANT 2000, although suggested, is not a prerequisite to subsequent courses, although it may be included in the 18 credits required for the minor.

1. Intermediate-level core courses (3-7 credit hours)
   - ANT 2410 Cultural Anthropology (3)
   - ANT 2511 Biological Anthropology (3)
   - ANT 2511L Biological Anthropology Lab (1)
   - ANT 3101 Archaeology (3)
   - ANT 3610 Anthropological Linguistics (3)

2. 4000-level elective courses (12-15 credit hours)
   - As described above in the listing of elective courses in archaeology, physical anthropology, anthropological linguistics and cultural anthropology.
