Ethics Lectures Coming to USFSP

The Program for Ethics in Education and Community (PEEC) will present an Ethics Lecture Series and Hidden Curriculum Luncheon featuring Dr. Joanne Ciulla, the Costen Family Chair in Ethics and Leadership at the Jepson School of Leadership Studies at the University of Richmond.

On Oct. 8, noon, Ciulla presents a Hidden Curriculum Luncheon: The Promise and Betrayal of Work. She will trace the meaning of work from curse to calling to modern obsession. She will discuss the difference between working to live and living to work, and explore the idea that technology has not freed us from work. Furthermore, she will elaborate on what it might take to change the way we think about work in the future. The luncheon is in FCT 118S and the cost is $2.75. Please contact Steve Ritch at 3-4985.

Also on Oct. 8, 7 p.m., Campus Activities Center, Ciulla will present a lecture discussing leaders as fallible human beings and examines the moral challenges that are distinctive to leaders and leadership.

Ciulla’s research interests are ethics and leadership, business ethics, and international leadership. She has published over 80 academic and popular articles. Her books include Ethics, The Heart of Leadership (Praeger 1998), The Working Life: The Promise and Betrayal of Modern Work (Crown Business Books, 2000) and The Ethics of Leadership (Wadsworth, 2002). Her book The Working Life was named one of the top two business books in 2000 by the book critics at Amazon.com. She is currently co-authoring a business ethics text called Honest Work: A Business Ethics Reader, which will be published by Oxford University Press.

Ciulla is also researching a book on the history of the idea of leadership. Professor Ciulla edits a series of books called New Horizons of Leadership for Edgar Elgar, Ltd. She is on the editorial boards of the Business Ethics Quarterly, and the Encyclopedia of Leadership Studies. Ciulla also serves on the board of directors of the Desmond Tutu Peace Foundation.

She has lectured all over the world and consults on ethics and leadership programs with universities, business and government agencies in the U.S. and overseas. Ciulla has appeared on numerous TV and radio programs and was featured in Bill Moyer’s World of Ideas II series.

Attention Faculty:
Dr. Ciulla is available for classroom presentations.
Faculty should contact Steve Ritch at 3-4985 in order to schedule her for a class visit.
USFSP Launches Senior Scholars Program

USF St. Petersburg (USFSP) announces the development of its new Senior Scholars Program geared to meet the needs of the Bay area’s ever-growing 50-plus community.

“Today’s technology can be intimidating,” said Patricia Scott, Senior Scholar Program coordinator. “It is especially challenging for those of us who are over 50. This unique program offers both basic and advanced computer training specially tailored to the mature adult who wants to become more proficient on their work or home computer.”

Participants can choose from seven sessions in the basic computing course. Introduction to Computers will familiarize participants with their personal computer hardware, basics of the Windows operating system, word processing, spreadsheets and databases. It also covers graphics and Internet access. “This basic course provides a firm foundation on which to build,” said Scott.

After taking the basic course, or for those who have already mastered the basics, there are six advanced courses from which to choose: Word Processing, Files and Folders, Family Tree Maker, Graphics, Digital Photography, and Microsoft Outlook and the Internet.

Class times vary (morning and afternoon hours available for most courses) and all meet at the Science Center of Pinellas County, 7701 22nd Avenue, North (near Tyrone Square Mall). Registration is Sept. 22 through Oct. 9. Classes meet in six sessions and are taught in Windows XP and MS Work Suite 2003. Each course costs $55 and parking is free.

For more information, or for a registration form, call Pat Scott at 727-553-4096, or e-mail pscott@spadmin.usf.edu
