American Stage Theatre Company in downtown St. Pete seeks an innovative and energetic Director of Marketing and Communications to work with the company’s new Producing Artistic Director to develop exciting new branding and sales strategies that will capture the imagination of the Tampa Bay community.

The successful candidate will work with an established professional theatre company to elevate the profile of the organization and increase its audience base in a time of leadership transition. This individual should have a keen appreciation for the role of technology and new media in successful marketing strategies and the leadership skills to represent American Stage both internally and externally.

More details here.