DAN H. BROWN
BA, CRIMINOLOGY '14

Dan Brown starting juggling as a youngster in late 2006. The following year he discovered World Juggling Federation and was motivated to become a top competitor in the sport. Since then, he has advanced to world competition and has garnered numerous awards, including third place in 2012 at the technically demanding World Juggling Federation Overall Championship in Sioux Falls, SD. Dan is also a seasoned performer at events around the country and has appeared on FOX TV and ESPN3.

A gifted scholar, Dan continues to focus on both juggling and academics with equal dedication. After graduating from the USFSP Honors Program, Dan entered Stetson University College of Law. He plans to complete his law degree in 2017. During the summer, Dan is interning with Judge Jack Day at the St. Petersburg Judicial Building as well as working in his father's law firm. In the fall, Dan is slated to serve as a Teacher's Assistant while "juggling" a full class load.

While at USFSP, Dan charmed and entertained his fellow students – and even taught many campus folk how to juggle. In 2013, he won the Student's Choice Award at the USFSP Talent Show – this prize accumulated along with his dozens of other national and international gold, silver and bronze medals.

"I will always treasure my memories at USFSP. The mixture of great education and beautiful weather, all within a vibrant community, is hard to beat!"
