IV. Interim Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs, Chris D'Elia

- Enrollment – Enrollment is increased for fall and the campus has met its enrollment goals
- PERT certifications were completed before deadline
- Divisions – Divisions must be reviewed by Academic Affairs, especially the Tenure and Promotion guidelines;
- Concerns about Division structure:
 - Over burden for administrative support
 - Dept. Divisions and PODS all mixed together without any cohesiveness
 - Need a full discussion about the process but is not opposed to Divisions; however just wants a discussion opened with Academic Affairs
 - Tenure and Promotion procedures for 2007-2008 will not change; this is part of Collective Bargaining Agreement
 - Some proposed Divisions do not have tenured faculty
 - Should all the Divisions be structured the same
 - Nine different Divisions, nine different by-laws?
 - Annual Review process – Discussion of the process in place and possible revisions.

- Dean will summarize all Division by-laws and then present to Academic Affairs
 - Divisions have been approved by Interim Dean as follows but not approved by Academic Affairs (Journalism; ESP&G; Language, Literature and Writing; Psychology, Social Work and Philosophy; Government and International Affairs and History; and ISS and Anthropology
- V. Motion proposed, seconded, discussed, and passed by the majority of the faculty present.

We move that we adopt the broad structure of the divisions as approved by the faculty, the Faculty Council and the Interim Dean. Then the current Dean, in concert with the Faculty Council and Division coordinators will work to eliminate any problems or inconsistencies they see in the structure of the by-laws.

Faculty acknowledged that the broad structure of the by-laws and recognition that it is not complete and that this be discussed with the Dean regarding any changes that may need to be addressed.

Dr. White stated her support for faculty governance and desire to see that Academic Affairs and the faculty work together on Divisional structures.

Meeting adjourned: 12:20 p.m.
