We will be judging the essays for the Black History Month Essay Contest on February 8, 2008 from 9:00-1:00 on campus. Since date was moved from Saturday to Friday, the response from faculty willing to participate has been wonderful. Currently there are 12 volunteers and anyone else who would like to join is welcome.

Old Business

Initial Program Approval Folio. Michael, Senokossoff, Rasch, Unal, the folio team, and I, as head of unit, have completed the requested DOE revisions to our Initial Program Approval Folio. Our folio was submitted before DOE had completed the rubric the DOE reviewers used to review all new folios. As a result, DOE has asked us to revise and resubmit the folio to include a Florida Reading Endorsement Matrix that aligns our course offerings with the competencies in the matrix. The other changes DOE requested were minor, and the revised folio will be sent to DOE by early next week. DOE has agreed to review the revised folio before the next review cycle, consistent with our goal of admitting students into this new dual major program in 2008.

Summer School. Summer school funding comes from a budget that is distinct from the budget allocated to colleges during the nine-month academic year. Summer budgets are based on previous years' summer school enrollments. These funds are distributed to each of the colleges around March of the academic year. In the College of Education, we handle the staffing and scheduling of summer school classes the same way every year. The summer school schedule is based on the projected two year cycle of classes from each of the College's programs. Summer school classes are scheduled according to the deadlines set by the university calendar. Once the summer budget is allocated to the College, faculty is assigned to teach the classes that have been scheduled. As in the past, full time faculty has priority during summer school, and we follow carefully the UFF guidelines for the assignment of faculty to summer school teaching.

Associate Dean's Responsibilities. The major responsibilities of the associate dean in the College of Education are to support the Dean of the College in offering quality programs and supporting faculty in their roles as teachers and scholars. These responsibilities include scheduling and staffing of classes; supervision, evaluation, and training of adjunct faculty; enrollment management of graduate programs; and faculty professional development and mentoring. Once Don Cunningham arrives, I plan to sit down with him to discuss the current College of Education priorities for the role of associate dean and to solicit from him ideas and suggestions on his role as associate dean. There will also be opportunities to discuss these plans with college faculty.

E. COE Social Opportunity for Holiday Gathering: December 14th, Potluck Party at the home of Dr. Reeves. This will also serve as a retirement party for Dr. Micklo.
