Growth Problem Explored

Unplanned and ill-planned growth in Florida and some possible solutions will be examined in a three-part documentary television series to be produced by WUSF television through a $25,468 grant awarded by the Florida Department of Education.

"Population Growth: Who Pays?" is the topic for the three one-hour color specials to be broadcast, beginning April 1, over the nine public television stations in Florida.

Those involved in the production of the series will include Arthur Marshall, ecologist and consultant to the University of Florida who will serve as writer-producer; Dr. John Betz, USF associate professor of biology; Dr. William Taft, USF director of sponsored research; Gerald Parker, chief hydrologist with the Southwest Florida Water Management District; Hal Scott, executive director of the Florida Audubon Society; Dr. Manny Lucoff, acting director of educational resources and project director; Alice Zacherl, WUSF station manager, and WUSF's Harmon McBride, executive producer, and Bill Buxton, cinematographer.

WUSF-FM Awarded Grant

A series of radio programs to help the one-million Florida citizens who are 65 years of age or older are being produced at WUSF-FM radio for statewide distribution through a Florida Department of Education grant.

The grant is for $7,033 to WUSF-FM radio to produce 26 one-half hour programs with information, advice, and assistance to senior citizens. Oliver Jernigan, coordinator of the Office of Aging of the Hillsborough County Department of Aging and a USF gerontology graduate, will host the show. Dave Dial, WUSF-FM production manager, will produce the programs under the direction of Alice Zacherl, station manager and project director, and Dr. Manny Lucoff, acting director of educational resources.

The first program will be aired over WUSF-FM (89.7) at 9 a.m. Feb. 5 and then each Tuesday thereafter. Upon completion of production of the entire series it will be distributed statewide.

USF Target For New College

The Board of Governors of the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce has proposed in writing to the Florida Board of Regents that the USF consider USF as a site for any new College of Architecture in the State. In stating its position, the Board of Governors noted that USF is the first urban university in the U.S. designed and built in this century, that an additional College of Architecture for the state seems "highly desirable" and that such a college would seem to be best located in a large metropolitan area in a university with not only engineering, but liberal, fine arts and other related programs.

CONTINUING EVENTS

From the BOR "Memo":
"A recently appointed Faculty and A & P Salary Study Committee met in Tallahassee last week with SUS Personnel and Faculty Relations and other SUS staff members to discuss suggestions for improving the State University System's position with respect to fringe benefits.
"All of the recent national and state compensation studies that we have reviewed indicate that fringe benefits for State University System faculty members and administrative and professional personnel are among the lowest in the nation, according to Dr. George Bedell, SUS Personnel and Faculty Relations Director, who chaired the meeting.
"Under discussion by university representatives and SUS staff were several flexible programs that would allow the employee the option of selecting a combination of benefits which would best meet his own personal needs. Suggestions are to be incorporated into a proposal to be presented to the Department of Administration for consideration by the Legislature. Committee members are Robert Carroll, FAMU; John T. Kirby, FAMU; Ronald G. Arrowmith, PFI; Joseph E. Lannutti, FSU; J. Thomas Simmons, FSU; Thomas H. Bloodworth, UF; Frederich Cole, UNF; Peter Kares and John P. Weiherding, USF; Donald D. Byrkit and George E. Fortin, UNF. Mrs. Mary B. Seals, C.J. Carter, William B. Phillips, and Dr. Bedell, State University System office."
