According to the "Memo," several factors contributed to the changing enrollment pattern in addition to the opening of two new universities this fall.

(1) First-time-in-college enrollment did not reach expected levels, indicating that Florida's college-going rate of high school graduates has declined for the third consecutive year.

(2) The percentage of continuing students scheduled to return decreased at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

(3) Problems associated with student financial aid, student housing, and out-of-state fee waivers were cited as possible causes for the decline in the growth rate.

(4) A large array of other factors associated with both social and economic conditions in Florida and the nation contributed to changing patterns. Among these are the rising cost of living, unemployment, reduction in draft quotas, high cost of education, and increased emphasis on vocational-technical education.

The annual President's Ball will be held Friday, Dec. 1 at 9 p.m. in the U.C. Ballroom to honor new faculty.

Mautz Clarifies Continuing Educ.

In a letter to the Council of Presidents, Chancellor Robert Mautz has attempted to clarify the policy regarding continuing education off-campus credit instruction.

Chancellor Mautz stated: "Students enrolled in courses offered within the physical boundaries of the university campus, or at official Board of Regents authorized centers, would pay resident fees. Students taking courses outside the physical boundaries of the university campus, or at locations other than official Board of Regents authorized centers, would be charged continuing education fees to comply with legislative intent."

President Mackey will hold a "Hotline" session today in CTR 158 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. He will appear on "Access," WUSF-FM, 89.7, at 6:30 p.m.
