Feb. 27—Mar. 1 Roaring Twenties Conference

Nostalgic Escape Features Jazz, Films, Flappers

Everything from jazz, a film marathon, a sidewalk arts and crafts show, dancing flappers and presentations by noted scholars comparing nostalgic America today with the country during the 1920's will be featured at a conference, "The Roaring Twenties: Dancin' Fools and Weary Blues--The Great Escape of the Twenties," Feb. 27-Mar. 1 at USF and the Travelodge.

Many events are open free to the public or for a minimal charge. Persons interested in attending the entire conference, which is sponsored by the English Dept., may register by sending $5.50 to Jack Walther, LET 252.

Highlights which are open to the public include the Roaring Twenties Ball featuring "Knocky" Parker and his All-Star Jazz Band with dance and costume contests, 8:30 p.m. Feb. 28, UC Ballroom, $1 per person or couple; a marathon of classic silent films, UC Ballroom, 50 cents per night or three tickets for $1, and free exhibits of antique cars, Twenties books, art, projected slides, taped music and other paraphernalia in UC 251, the UC Mall or the Travelodge.

(Both films and exhibits will be from 1-9 p.m. Feb. 27, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Feb. 28 and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Mar. 1), and a sidewalk arts and crafts show, UC Mall, 2-8 p.m. Feb. 28. (Entries $1 per person. Call Linda Walther, ext. 2320.)

Speakers and other programs too numerous to list are scheduled, including the keynote talk by noted literary critic Alfred Kazin of the University of New York at Stony Brook on "Why Modernism?" and a major address by Roderick Nash, professor, University of California at Santa Barbara on "The Twenties and the Sixties: Lost or Found Generations?"

These other programs may be attended on a space available basis after conference registrants have been accommodated.

For complete program details contact the conference co-chairperson, Dr. Larry Broer, ext. 2421 or Dr. Jim Spillane, ext. 2529.

New Traffic Safety Tool—Campus Police 'Speedgun'

Campus speeders beware! The University police are now using a sophisticated radar detection device which measures the speed of vehicles and provides an instant digital readout in miles-per-hour.

The Speedgun, which can be fastened to a car door or hand held, is powered either by a battery pack or by being plugged into a car's cigarette lighter.

"There are several advantages to the Speedgun," said Max Bromley, USF police public education and information officer. "It decreases the need for an officer to 'clock' an alleged speeder; allows selective traffic enforcement, particularly in pedestrian-congested areas; and is scientifically superior to a policeman's speedometer."

Police Captain Ted Gibson said motorists stopped as a result of the Speedgun will be given warning notices until Mar. 1 when traffic tickets will be issued.

The Speedgun is on loan from the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Department. USF officers were certified by the Department last week in its use.

Chancellor Here Today

Chancellor Robert Mautz is visiting USF today for a series of meetings with faculty, staff and students.

Dr. Mautz will give a budget presentation to deans, chairpersons, officers of the A&P, Faculty and Career Service Senate and the Budget Council from 9:30-11:30 a.m. in Room 1003 of the Medical Center.

From noon until 1:30 p.m. he will be luncheoning with the deans. Faculty Senate Officers, the Agenda Committee of the Faculty Senate and the University Council Chairpersons will meet with him from 1:30-3 p.m. in the President's Conference Room.

Dr. Mautz will wrap up his visit here with a meeting with student leaders in the President's Dining Room from 3:15-4:30 p.m.

Mackey Describes Impact

On USF of Revised 75-76 Legislative Budget Request

If state funding next year is kept at 1974-75 appropriations level, as recommended by Gov. Reubin Askew, President Cecil Mackey said the University of South Florida faces severe cutbacks in University programs, including the loss of 61 faculty and staff positions.

In his Wednesday morning review of preliminary guidelines from Gov. Askew and the Board of Regents, President Mackey gave deans, departmental chairpersons and others the following potential impacts to USF operations if the revised 1975-76 Legislative Budget is approved:

- Reduction of 45.40 academic positions here and 288 systemwide.
- Reduction of 15.49 non-academic positions here and 100.8 systemwide.
- "Significant" increases in faculty and staff workloads.
- No special funding (beyond the SUS formula based on enrollments) for USF programs in Fort Myers, Sarasota-Bradenton and St. Petersburg.

President Mackey said the governor's tentative budget recommendations for the SUS call for a 5 to 5.5 percent salary increase for state employees, a 3.2 increase in expense funds, 5 percent funding for equipment replacement and $4.87 million for book purchases.

At the same time, Mackey said the governor's recommendations specifically deleted funding in these areas: consulting, faculty development, non-
