It's Homecoming Again

Jan. 13-18 will be "Homecoming 1975: A Look to the Future," when USF opens its doors to the community and to other parts of the campus for tours, lectures, performances, basketball, displays, open houses and reunions.

All nine colleges on the Tampa Campus and the St. Petersburg Campus will be holding events during the week. In some cases, all departments within colleges are participating. All events, except a few where indicated in the following schedule, are open free to faculty, staff, students and the public. Some free events, requiring reservations, are also indicated.

Among the many events will be tours of research laboratories and buildings, such as the engineering labs where miniature submarines are being tested, the weather lab where daily forecasts are prepared, and the reading and math diagnostic clinics in education; tours of teaching museums in biology and anthropology, and the botanical gardens; open classrooms; a reader's theatre production of "Facade," open rehearsals in theatre, dance and music; displays of art and artifacts; films; slide presentations such as the development of the nursing college; panel discussions; coffee hours; international food concessions; lectures, including those on what's new in medicine, the energy problem, inflation and UFO's, and demonstrations, such as how an electron microscope works, or how the earth rotates using the Foucault pendulum.

Homecoming is planned by an all-University Homecoming Committee of students, faculty and staff and is chaired this year by Phyllis Marshall, director of student organizations, and student Robert Leeds. Members are Cindy Hewett, Debbie Smith, Margaret Jones, Joe Tomaino, Bobbi Campbell, Dr. Richard Bowers, Don Saunders, Galc Best, Sandra Wright, Rick Alter, Paul Rutledge, John Pitts, Wayne Wechsler, Joe Busta, Paul Urvich, Jim Morgan, Jack Fisher, Ernie Pistone, Dale Hartman, Bob Bradshaw and Stephen Lienhart.

College representatives are: Dr. Carlos Cano, Arts and Letters; Dr. Hartley Mellish, Business Administration; Dr. James Bernard, Education; Lienhart, Engineering; Peter O'Sullivan, Fine Arts; Dr. Jack Hieckman, Medicine; Dr. James Ray, Natural Sciences; Dr. G.L. Lloyd, Nursing, and Don Lacey, Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Numerous other individuals and campus organizations are participating in Homecoming plans.

For a complete listing of Homecoming events planned to date see pages 3 and 4. For more information, call ext. 2615 or the various colleges.

USF Police? Dial 2628

Virtually all phones on campus now exhibit the University Police telephone number. As part of an on-going effort to encourage the University Community to report suspicious/criminal activities, these stickers were placed on campus phones during the break. The 2628 exchange is a 24-hour a day number that can be dialed for assistance in any emergency situation. Any office which did not receive ample stickers may request them from the University police.

Education Conference Set

The 11th Annual National Superintendents' Conference will be held at the International Inn in Tampa Jan. 12-16, sponsored by USF's Center for Educational Policy Studies, College of Education, and the Center for Continuing Education. Some 40 superintendents of public instruction are expected to attend.

The conference theme is "Stability and Change in Today's Schools." Program topics include perspectives in career education, inservice training of professional staff, management of school resources and reorganization. Participants will hear speakers from USF's College of Education, Florida State University, Florida Department of Education, University of Utah and Buffalo, N.Y.

Planetarium Offers 'Stonehenge'

The rising and setting points of the sun and moon in different seasons as well as an examination of the lunar cycle will be featured during the January and February program of USF's Planetarium. The planetarium, entitled "Stonehenge" will use projectors and special effects to demonstrate this ancient astronomy system located in England. "Stonehenge" will begin Jan. 5 and will continue each Sunday at 2 p.m. through Feb. 23. Programs are free and open to the public.

Reservations are required and may be made by calling 974-2580.

Non-Credit Courses Available

A variety of non-credit courses are available for staff, students and the public during Quarter II, under the auspices of USF's Center for Continuing Education.

A series of "Creative Development Courses," offered in conjunction with the College of Arts and Letters, includes "Occult Traditions and Practices," "Effective Speaking," "Vocabulary Development" and "Creative Writing." All are offered evenings on the Tampa campus except "Creative Writing," which meets afternoons on the St. Pete campus.

"Personal and Professional Enrichment Programs," developed in conjunction with the Counseling Center for Human Development, provide an opportunity to increase skills or prepare for advancement. Offered are "Career Guidance for Adults," "Study Skills for the Adult Learner" and "Effective Reading for Business or Pleasure," all taught evenings on the Tampa campus. "Reading/Study Skills for Junior and Senior High School Students" meets Saturday mornings at USF.

Additional enrichment courses include "Preparation for the Medical and Dental Admission Tests," "Development of Verbal Comprehension for the GRE" and "Development of Math Skills for the GRE and LSAT." All meet evenings at USF and feature reduced fees for USF staff and students.

Brochures describing all courses are available from the Continuing Education Office, FAD 105, ext. 2403.

REPORTING
In addition to registration as a lobbyist, the statute requires every State employee who lobbies to record and report the time spent in legislative chambers, committee rooms, legislative offices, legislative hallways and other areas in the immediate vicinity of any of these places. If time is spent pursuing lobbying before either body of the Legislature as a whole then the time so spent must be reported to either the Clerk or Secretary. If the time is spent pursuing lobbying before a committee or sub-committee, then the time so spent must be reported to the chairperson of the committee or subcommittee.

EXCEPTIONS
Lobbyist registration and reporting requirements do not apply to contact with Legislators, committees or bodies when the contact is not during the business hours of the entity by whom the employee is employed. A further exception is made for appearances as a witness or for information purposes before a committee or subcommittee at the request of the chairperson of the committee.

PENALTIES
The statute provides penalties for failing to register and report and for spending State funds which are not authorized for lobbying.
If a State employee lobbies without registering or lobbies and fails to report the time so spent, a sum, equal to the product of the hours spent lobbying and the hourly wage of the employee, will be deducted from his salary.
By statute, State funds may be used for salary, per diem and travel in connection with a lobbying effort.
It is specifically provided that State funds may not be used for these costs in connection with a lobbying effort: cost of publication and distribution of lobbying publications, other printing, media, advertising, postage, entertainment, and telephone and telegraph expenses. Where State funds are unlawfully expended for lobbying, the amount so spent will be deducted from the salary of the lobbying employee.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION
The complete text of the Act is contained in West's Florida Session Law Service available in the Special Collections section of the University Library.
Forms for registration as a lobbyist are available from the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives.
All lobbying appearances on behalf of the University of South Florida must be approved by the appropriate University Relations.
