United Way Drive Begins; USF Goal Set: $23,000

The 1975 Greater Tampa United Way Drive is now underway at USF and Ken Thompson, chairperson, has announced the goal of $23,000.

"The United Way is one of the most tangible opportunities we at USF have each year to demonstrate our concern and support for our community," said Thompson. "I urge you to take advantage of this opportunity to recognize those in the community whose needs are greater than ours."

USF employees may make direct contributions to the United Way or arrange for payroll deductions. They may also designate which of the 42 United Way-supported agencies they wish their contributions to support. These agencies include family, children's and general dependency services, health services, youth and recreation services and other forms of support to the community.

The $23,000 USF goal is part of the campaign's overall $1,776,000 citywide goal.

The United Way team captains who are contact persons for donations are: College of Education, Roger E. Wilk; College of Business Administration, Eugene Dunham; College of Arts and Letters, Kendrick Fenderson; College of Medicine, Jay Layman; College of Natural Sciences, Donald C. Rose; College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Louis Kutcher; College of Nursing, B.J. Thomas; College of Fine Arts, Don Owen; College of Engineering, Wilma M. Smith; Academic Affairs, Dave Jordan; Library, Edith Knapper and James Michael; President's Office, Joseph Busta; Administration, Robert E. Wallace; Student Affairs, Raymond King.

Academic Unionism—May It Be Discussed in Classroom?

In response to a recent inquiry regarding "ground rules regulating the discussion of SUS collective bargaining activities in a classroom setting," Dr. George Bedell, Director, Office of Personnel and Faculty Relations, wrote the following: "There is no law or Board of Regents policy prohibiting a faculty member from explaining to or discussing with his students unionization in higher education, even if the discussion focuses on the State University System of Florida."

The Sept. 26 issue of INTERCOM carried a short story about the SUS "Hotline," but failed to note that calls on it should be related to academic unionism. The "Hotline" number is 278-6849 (SUNCOM) and the line is open from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"The Florida Public Employees Relations Act does prohibit 'a public employee organization or anyone acting in its behalf, its officer representatives, agents or members from instigating or advocating support in any positive manner for an employee organization's activities from students in institutions of higher learning.' Florida Statutes, Section 447.501 (2) (f) (1974). Thus it would be inappropriate for a faculty member acting on behalf of (or who is an officer representative, agent or member of) an employee organization to solicit union membership among university students, or encourage them to do so, pass out authorization cards to them, urge them to join or support a union, or distribute union literature to them encouraging student support for union activities."

St. Pete Forum Set for Oct. 13-14

Problem to Consider: Violence in Popular Arts

"Is censorship of violence in the popular arts sometimes justified?" This is one of several questions that will be tackled by experts and the public at an Oct. 13-14 public forum at USF's St. Petersburg Campus Auditorium in Building A.

The free forum is funded by a $6,162 grant from the Florida Endowment for the Humanities entitled "Forms of Violence in Literature and the Popular Arts: For or Against the Public Interest." Dr. Irving Deer, professor of English, is project director.

"Violence seems to be a metaphor in our age which expresses many of our most vital concerns," said Dr. Deer. "The purpose of the forum is to explore rather than necessarily resolve the controversies surrounding violence in contemporary literature and the popular arts."

Deer said he hopes a broad spectrum of the public will participate in the forum. It will be held in five sessions starting at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 13 and ending the next day at 5:30 p.m. The movie "A Clockwork Orange" will be shown in the third session, Oct. 13 at 7:30 p.m., followed by discussion.

USF participants in the forum will be Robert Hall and Harriet Deer of the English department.

Other speakers will be Eric Larrabee, former executive director, New York State Council on the Arts; Leslie Fiedler, professor of English, State University of New York at Buffalo; and W.T. Lhamon, assistant professor of English, Florida State University.

"The forum's success will be determined in part by our success in getting open expression and discussion of values by those in attendance," said Dr. Deer.
