(St. Petersburg, Fla.) April 6, 2010 – The master’s in liberal arts at USF St. Petersburg, a graduate program designed to advance careers and expand teaching opportunities, will have more track options starting in fall 2010. MLA graduates students may now choose options that lead to the ability to teach their selected disciplines at the college freshman and sophomore level.

Information on the new MLA options and all master’s programs offered at USF St. Petersburg will be available at a Graduate Studies Open House on Saturday, April 10. Program advisors, faculty members and college deans will be available to discuss USF St. Petersburg graduate programs. This event is free and open to the public:

The College of Business has expanded its MBA options with 12-Month MBA and Global MBA options. Other graduate program options include:

- Journalism and Media Studies
- Florida Studies
- Environmental Science and Policy
- Education (Six different degree programs available)

Options in USFSP’s expanded MLA program include tracks such as literature, American studies, and liberal studies. Other options may be available according to student interest and class availability.
