Freeze Ordered On A&P, Career Service Positions

A temporary freeze on all A & P and Career Service positions at USF was ordered last Friday following a preliminary analysis of proposed budget allocations by the State University System.

The preliminary analysis indicated that, compared with last year, USF could lose at least 49 positions (11 A & P and 38 Career Service) as a result of actions taken by the Legislature in its 1977-78 Appropriations Bill.

The Board of Regents is expected to act on allocations to the state universities when it meets July 22 in Jacksonville.

Sicilian Artist To Be Honored

Sicilian artist Giovanni Alessi will be honored July 19 at a reception marking the opening of a two-week exhibit of his paintings and sculptures in the UC Gallery, CTR 108.

The reception is open to the public and will be at 8 p.m. in the Gallery. Alessi's works will be on display from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. July 18-22 and 25-29. The UC Program Advising Office and the Circolo Culturale Italiano are co-sponsoring the reception.

Alessi's showing includes 47 paintings and 25 sculptures. His works depict the ancient and never-solved problems of his native Sicily. He uses, particularly, the institutionalized submission of Italian women by Sicily's male-dominated, macho culture as his emblem for inequality.

Many of his paintings contain a single lonely figure outlined in black. Many describe the universal struggle for individual identity. His technique is representative of the Picasso school. His sculptures are in wood, bronze, copper and onyx. Some of his paintings are in hot greens and fiery reds and illustrate his island's history of repeated foreign invasion.

Toma To Speak On Campus

Vice, narcotics and gambling detective David Toma, whose exploits are the basis for the popular ABC television series, "Toma," will speak at 8 p.m. July 18 in LET 103. His talk is sponsored by the University Lecture Series and is free to the public.

In his 17 years as a policeman, Toma has never fired the revolver that he always carries. His objective is law enforcement with a compassionate attitude. This will be the subject of his lecture, "Human Decency: Inspiration and Motivation."

Referred to in the press as the great impersonator and the man of a thousand faces, Toma is a master of disguises in his undercover work. He said that the TV series "Toma," in which he occasionally acts, has been helpful in establishing his credibility with those persons, such as potential drug abusers, whom he seeks to help.

Toma works in the Newark, N.J. area which has been cited by a Presidential Crime Commission as having one of the highest crime rates among big U.S. cities. He describes his beat as being so tough that it makes "Harlem look like Disneyland."

Howell To Be 'Sorely Missed' At USF: Smith

Dr. Joe Howell, vice president for student affairs and development, is leaving the University of South Florida on Aug. 1 to become president of Central Methodist College (CMC) in Fayette, Mo.

His appointment was announced late last Friday by James H. Denman, chairman of CMC's board of curators who said Dr. Howell was the "outstanding choice" from among 112 candidates for the position. Central Methodist is a church-related, coed, liberal arts college with an enrollment of about 800 and a faculty of 60.

In his resignation to President Reece Smith, Dr. Howell said he was "delighted and excited...to accept the presidency of an institution that believes it can make an educational difference in the lives of persons it touches."

Pres. Smith accepted the resignation with "great regret" and said Dr. Howell "has rendered dedicated, invaluable service to USF" and his "versatility will be sorely missed."

President Smith noted that Dr. Howell's decision came as no surprise. "Long before I came to the University," the president said, "I had several informal discussions with him (about) his aspiration at the appropriate time to serve as president of a liberal arts college. These discussions continued after my appointment as interim president."

President Smith said that "while we shall miss Dr. Howell, I am optimistic about the continued growth and progress of USF...It now has the strength and durability that assures its continued development despite changes in leadership that are inevitable in any organization."

He also said that about July 15, he will announce several new appointments to administrative posts "in order to assure the uninterrupted continuity of the University's mission."

Dr. Howell, who came to USF in 1971, has been responsible for student personnel service programs ranging from new student orientation and student activity and organizations to financial aid and scholarships, as well as handling development & alumni efforts. He also has served as a professor of education.

He came to USF from Southern Methodist University where he was vice president of student affairs. He previously was dean of men at two private colleges in Virginia.
