Press release: 2013: 03: 22: Digitizing project seeks to preserve important slice of Florida’s history

Tom Scherberger

Follow this and additional works at: https://digital.usfsp.edu/usfsp_news_press_releases

Recommended Citation
https://digital.usfsp.edu/usfsp_news_press_releases/384

This Other is brought to you for free and open access by the University Advancement at Digital USFSP. It has been accepted for inclusion in USFSP News and Press Releases by an authorized administrator of Digital USFSP.
Digitizing project seeks to preserve important slice of Florida’s history

As Florida marks its 500th anniversary, J. Michael Francis, the Hough Family Endowed Chair in Florida Studies at USF St. Petersburg, is leading an effort to digitize and preserve centuries-old documents that tell the story of the Spanish Colonial period in St. Augustine.

Dr. Francis is featured on the cover of the Spring 2013 edition of USF Magazine. Francis is supervising two graduate students, Saber Gray and Arthur Tarratus, who are digitizing the fragile parchment paper, a painstaking process designed to preserve the documents and put them online to make them accessible to scholars and the general public around the world.

“As we make this material available I think we will see a real renaissance in Florida studies,” Francis says.
Related News

Posted in:
USFSP News