USF ST. PETERSBURG CAMPUS GRADUATION TO FEATURE AUTHOR CLEVELAND AMORY MAY 1

EDITORS NOTE: Cleveland Amory will be available for a press conference on Friday, April 30 at 5 p.m. at the Tampa International Airport. For more information call Pat Driscoll at 974-2181.

Cleveland Amory, renowned author and lecturer, will deliver the commencement address at the St. Petersburg Campus of the University of South Florida at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 1 on the harbor side of the campus lawn.

Amory is the author of "The Proper Bostonians," "The Last Resorts" and "Who Killed Society" among others. He is also founder and president of The Fund for Animals, a society with over 200,000 members dedicated to promoting better treatment for and anti-cruelty to animals.

Dean John Hinz will welcome Amory to the Tampa Bay area.

"This is our first commencement on the St. Petersburg Campus," Hinz said. "It will allow us, together with our friends and supporters, to celebrate and reconfirm the very special relationship that exists between our campus and the St. Petersburg community."

More than 170 students receiving bachelors' and masters' degrees will be individually recognized. Special honors and awards will be announced. A brass ensemble lead by Chris Styles will provide musical entertainment both before and after commencement exercises. The program is expected to last an hour and a half.

For more information call Dean John Hinz at 893-9151.
